QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1. I recently received a bid notification for the Virtual Coaching Platform. While I am not a supplier of software systems, I am an executive coach. How can I apply for the Universities' virtual coaching program once it has been launched in 2019?

Once the platform is built, there is the potential for licensed use of the product. Please check back for more information.

2. If I customize my software for this project, do I surrender or make null and void my IP rights and lose my existing trademark and copyright protection?

Your copyright and trademark protection questions should be answered by your lawyer.

3. What exceptions, if any, are available for me to participate in this process yet maintain all the rights to my software?

We cannot provide exceptions for your participation in the process. Each Bidder after reading the requirements of the solicitation must make their own determination if they will participate.
